LOOK FOR SOME DEVELOPMENTS IN MEXICO SOON

With Mexican Congress Assembling on Tuesday and Huerta Sending Special Message, Washington is Apprehensive

AGAIN URGING LEAVING COUNTRY

Lists Are Being Made of All Property Abandoned by Americans With End in View of Demand Adequate Settlement

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, D. C. Sept. 13.—In anticipation of important developments in connection with the Mexican problem next week, the state department officials have been giving much attention to executive plans for the withdrawal in safety of those Americans in Mexico who can be induced to come out of the country. An immediate result of the state department warning was to group a number of such refugees at seaports, but most of these have now been shipped to the United States. American consuls in Mexico report a diminution of the number of Americans who are homebound. It is believed that those now in the country have decided to remain and take their chances for protection at the hands of Huerta.

It is not possible to obtain an estimate of the number, but it is known that at least the majority of Americans have already left the country. The American consuls are keeping lists of all American property from which the owners have withdrawn in order to establish a basis for the settlement of claims that may arise after the revolution is ended. The president expressly stated that the suggestion of the withdrawal of Americans must not be regarded as a sign of intervention. Next week it is expected to mark development in the acute stage in Mexico with increased danger to Americans. The Mexican congress assembles on Tuesday to receive a special message from Huerta dealing with the revolution and particularly upon the influence of that movement of the attitude of the United States. There will be a patriotic demonstration there the same day.

May Rescind Order.

DOUGLAS, Sept. 13.—That Governor Mayorena of Sonora, would rescind the recent order that Americans and other foreigners in that Mexican state must surrender all firearms to the constitutionalists, was reported here today.

It is said the governor's reported action was due to violent opposition on the part of American residents, some of whom were prepared to fight in preference to making themselves defenseless.

Much dissension and bitterness developed between the followers of the two candidates for military governor of Sonora according to reports reaching Douglas. Mayorena, the incumbent, desires to succeed himself, while his opponent is former Acting Governor Pesquera. Charges of fraud and treason are freely made. Carranza will make the appointment next Tuesday according to present plans.

Rebels Still Active.

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 13.—Rebel activity between San Luis Potosi and Tampico has increased and dispatches from Tampico say that traffic is again interrupted. There is considerable apprehension for the safety of the few American women scattered through the district of eastern San Luis Potosi.

Smugglers Captured.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 13.—Mexican ammunition smugglers were captured after a battle with United States cavalrymen this morning near the Alamo Crossing at the Rio Grande. They were led by an American, Barney Cline, an automobile driver from El Paso, as he described himself to the military authorities.

Cline and the other prisoners are being held in the city jail.

Body of Mayor Gaynor Is Now On Way To New York

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13.—The body of the late mayor of New York, William J. Gaynor, is now aboard the steamer Lusitania after receiving honors seldom paid except to England's most illustrious dead. The Lusitania sailed tonight for New York and is due on Friday. In deference to the feelings of the passengers on the Lusitania, which was crowded, the body was taken aboard early today after a brief funeral service in the Liverpool town hall.

All night the body lay in state guarded by details of picked police. Officials received the coffin on board the Lusitania from the White Star tender. Representatives of the lord

Tells Wedded Ones How to Be Happy Sues For Divorce

(Special to The Republican.) DELAWARE, O., Sept. 13.—Lillian Bell Bogue, author of many books dealing with the marriage relation, and supposed authority on the subject of how to be happy though married, who entered suit for divorce a few days ago, the defendant being Arthur Hoyt Bogue of Chicago, charges non-support, intemperance and extraneous tendencies.

Before she married, Mrs. Bogue had a good deal to say about the selection of a husband. She wrote a magazine article in which she contended that any man under thirty-five years of age was stupid and unfit to be a husband. Then she turned around and married a man of twenty-eight. She was thirty-three.

She later came to the conclusion that she should have paid attention to her own teachings. "A man will never give up drinking for a woman no matter how he loves her," she sighed recently. "I am not a temperance fanatic but I will not shield my husband from criticism any longer."

She says that before she left Bogue last December it became his regular mode of living to drink a cup of the strongest coffee obtainable on rising in the morning, and then devote the remainder of the day to smoking cigarettes.

Elaborating on the charge that her husband is extravagant, Mrs. Bogue says that one time he secured an apartment for a monthly rental of $200, which he expected her to pay. She asserts that she has been the constant support of the family, through the medium of her books.

Not long ago Mrs. Bogue interested a large circle of persons with her new articles of faith for married couples. "The whole world is suffering from too much familiarity," she said, advocating for husband and wife separate apartments, separate telephones, separate mail boxes and separate bank accounts. She declared a wife should never see her husband without a collar, and that a husband should never see his wife with curl papers in her hair. The failure of marriage, she said, was due to the fading of illusions of engagement days. Illusions won't last, she added, when familiarity has full sway.

CURRENCY DEBATE ENDS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The house tonight wound up its four days of general debate on the administration currency bill. The republicans and progressives criticized the measure on various points, and the democrats lauded it as the means of evolving a safe financial system. Altogether some three score members talked on the bill.

The republicans condemned the secret committee meetings. The progressives also found this an inspiring theme. Several democrats joined the minority attacks on the methods under which the bill was framed, but all announced they would vote for the bill.

As the Lusitania swung down stream the flags of all ships were dipped to half mast and other liners saluted with hoarse blasts of their sirens.

THAW GETS WRIT FROM FEDERAL COURT JUDGE

Will Use This Method to Prevent Extradition if Governor of New Hampshire Honors Requisition of New York Executive

AND JEROME IS PEEVED

Characterizes Latest Move of Fugitive's Attorneys as Breaking Faith and Misuse of the Federal Tribunal

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] COLEBROOK, Sept. 13.—The writ of habeas corpus which has been so often gotten into the career of Harry K. Thaw since his incarceration at Matteawan, cropped out again this afternoon in his fight to resist extradition from New Hampshire after his unexpected deportation from the Dominion of Canada. This time and for the first time in the history of Thaw's efforts to regain his liberty, a writ was issued by a federal court.

United States Judge Aldrich of the district of New Hampshire, granted the application of three of Thaw's lawyers, Martin, Shurtley and Olmstead, and made it returnable at Littleton on Tuesday. William Travers Jerome, specially deputized to bring the fugitive back to the asylum, heard the news with ill grace and characterized the move as one of bad faith. There had been a gentlemen's agreement, he said, that neither side would make any move pending extradition hearing before Governor Feltner at Concord, next week.

Thaw's lawyers, led by Moses H. Grossman, said the writ was one of expediency and had been obtained to meet an emergency should the governor refuse a full hearing in the extradition matter and sign a requisition warrant and forthwith turn Thaw over to the officers from New York. For this reason he believes now, he added a full hearing will be accorded the fugitive and in view of this probable request on Tuesday, the habeas corpus hearing will be continued.

"It seems to me," said Jerome grimly, "that this is trifling with the federal court. I should hesitate to apply for a writ under such circumstances."

Thaw is likely to remain here until the governor sets a date for the hearing which may be Wednesday of next week or later. Tonight the fugitive gave out a telegram which his mother, Mrs. Mary Copely Thaw, sent from Montreal to Governor Feltner. He added she would not come here at present in view of the uncertain status of affairs.

Most of the Canadians who followed Thaw across the border in sympathetic enthusiasm and spoke openly of their desire to assist in another break for liberty, left Colebrook tonight and the talk of kidnapping, so rampant for a few days, has died down considerably. The Thaw lawyers in veiled remarks still contend that they feared "strong arms" work on the part of the authorities from New York and the guard about the fugitive's room was maintained tonight as usual.

Grossman, of the Thaw counsel in charge of the plans for resisting extradition, issued tonight a statement outlining in a general way what will be the gist of his arguments before the governor.

"No man in the world," he said, "occupies a more anomalous position today than Harry Thaw."

"They are endeavoring to extradite under cover of a charge of a crime, a man, who they themselves, must admit cannot commit a crime, for the purpose of recommitting him to an asylum, where, if he is sane, he certainly should not be kept and in which even though he be insane, they have no legal right to keep him."

"Papers have arrived from New York charging Thaw with the crime of conspiracy to escape, at the same time alleging he was properly confined in the asylum. If he was properly in an asylum he could not be guilty of conspiracy or any other crime."

Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county, in which Matteawan is situated, arrived at Colebrook tonight with a requisition warrant signed by Acting Governor Glynn. Jerome inspected the papers to see that they were perfect and will lay them before the governor early next week.

A petition to Governor Feltner praying that he refuse the extradition of Thaw on the ground that Thaw has suffered enough for his crime was circulated in Colebrook today. Up to tonight it was said that 165 signatures had been obtained.

Feltner Noncommittal
ROCHESTER, Sept. 13.—Governor Samuel D. Feltner at his home tonight said he did not know what effect it any the granting of the application for a writ of habeas corpus in the United States district court today would have on the extradition proceedings in the Thaw case.

"As a matter of fact," said the governor, "I have made no plans. Any hearing if may hold will take place later than Tuesday and maybe Wednesday."

FRIEND HUSBAND.

TARIFF BILL TO GO TO THE TWO HOUSES MONDAY

Conferees Get Along So Well That Chairman Simmons of Senate Finance Committee Predicts Report Tomorrow

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 13.—The tariff conferees got along so well today that Chairman Simmons of the senate finance committee predicted tonight their report would be made to the two houses of congress next week. The conferees today practically finished the cotton schedule and the flax and hemp schedules. A few paragraphs of each were left for further consideration. In the cotton schedule the changes were largely agreed to. Classification of stockings was changed and slightly higher rates placed upon them.

Flax and hemp were allowed to remain on the free list where the senate put them. The paragraphs relating to bagging and burlap which caused much debate in the senate were not acted upon.

House leaders insist the senate rates on these articles mean a decrease in revenue of several millions annually. Difficulty over the free listing of ferro manganese and pig iron and steel schedule were only serious disagreements so far developed, and were not taken up today but it is said a settlement will be reached on Monday. General Chamorro, the Nicaraguan minister and other Central Americans held further conference today with Secretary Bryan and it is understood renewed their protest against the proposed tariff on bananas, included in the tariff bill now pending before the conferees. The protest of the Central American delegation was unanimous, declaring the imposition of a tariff would curtail the banana trade and so interrupt reciprocal trade with the United States.

BRITISH VICTORS.
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, British visitors, defeated Aleck Smith and George Low in a 36 hole professional four-ball match over the links of the Baltus golf club today.

They met at the earliest. Governor Feltner said the business had not reached him yet. "Officially," he said, "I don't know that Thaw is in our state, except for requests of counsel that he be given a hearing."

WEALTHY WOMAN ENDS HER LIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Andrew Wilkie, a wealthy elderly woman, committed suicide today by drinking poison and then jumping into Stow lake in Golden Gate park. Mrs. Wilkie was the wife of Andrew Wilkie, president of the Wilkie Building Co. and no motive for the suicide has been discovered. Lee Zelle saw Mrs. Wilkie raise a bottle to her lips and then throw herself into the lake. He jumped in to drag her out, but she was unconscious and died at a hospital.

Mystery Deepens As To Identity Of Murdered Girl

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Once again the identity of the murdered girl, parts of whose body were found in the Hudson River, more than a week ago is a mystery, all clues having failed to reveal her name or the manner of her death. The body is not that of Annette Day, the Brooklyn girl, who has been missing since August 28 as has been believed.

Salvatore Day, and his sister Mary went to the Hoboken morgue late today and contradicted their brother Francis who declared the belief it was his sister's headless body.

Thinks Body of Wife.
FT. WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 13.—Dr. Z. H. Stamez, a local physician, today said he believed the dismembered body of the woman found in the Hudson River to be that of his wife. Dr. and Mrs. Stamez separated a year ago and Mrs. Stamez went to New York. Stamez will depart for New York tomorrow.

RACE ACCIDENT.

Latoria Track Scene of Near Tragedy When Car Hits Fence.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LATONIA, Sept. 13.—One man was probably fatally injured and another seriously when the car driven by Nickles of California, went through the fence on the first turn of the Latonia track in the hundred mile race today. Nickles sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries, while his mechanic, Shuttler, suffered from scalp wound and probable internal injuries.

DEATHS FOLLOW DANCE

Party Is Struck By Yellowstone Flyer and Two Are Killed

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 13.—Two were killed and six were injured, two probably fatally, near Ashton, Idaho, early today when the Yellowstone Flyer on a vehicle carrying a party from an all-night dance.

COMMISSIONS FOR CITIES OF PENNSYLVANIA

Twenty-three Municipalities of Keystone State Adopt Non-Partisan Form of Government and Await Election

EXIT MAYORS AND COUNCILS

New System Carries With It Direct Legislation Principles of Initiative and Referendum With Mayor and Commissioners

(Special to The Republican.) PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13.—What is considered to be in many respects the most important political campaign ever waged in Pennsylvania virtually ended today. Next Tuesday a state-wide primary will be held for the nomination of candidates for two superior court judges, for municipal officials of all the leading cities and officials of the sixty-seven counties of the state.

Neither the governorship nor any other of the high offices of the state are involved in the contest. Nevertheless, the primary of next Tuesday and the regular election to follow in November threaten revolutionary results and may lead to a complete reorganization of the political forces and the changing of the political map of Pennsylvania.

The primary will be operated under radical new laws designed to make it possible for the electorate to select efficient, progressive and unbiased candidates for public office. The new election laws, coupled with advanced ideas in municipal government which are to come into effect at the same time, are believed to sound the death knell of machine government.

The last legislature provided for radical changes in the system of government in third-class cities, abolishing the mayor and councils and establishing a pure commission form of government. In the primaries next Tuesday a mayor and four commissioners will be nominated to govern the twenty-three third-class cities of the state. Non-partisan elections will be held in all the cities of Pennsylvania except Philadelphia.

The fight in Philadelphia centers about the election of councilmen, county officials and nine municipal court judges. The municipal court is a new tribunal to try civil and criminal cases. The nine judges are to be chosen without regard to party affiliations.

The idea that machine government must be destroyed and that the new primary and election laws give opportunity to bring about such a reconstruction is paramount in the campaign. In Philadelphia and in nearly all the other important communities, the Washington party forces and the democratic party are united to overthrow the so-called republican machine.

Added importance is given to the primaries and election this year, as they are regarded as merely preparatory to the election of United States senator and governor next year. The reform element believes that a victory of the fusion forces this year, especially in the republican strongholds of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, would make almost hopeless any successful fight next year by Senator Penrose for re-election, and would go far toward breaking down the control by the republican organization of the state government.

In Pittsburgh there is no fusion and a triangular contest is being waged. Mayor Mazoe and William Flint, the Washington party state leader, have joined in the support of Congressman Stephen G. Porter for mayor, while the republican faction that follows the leadership of Senator Oliver is behind the candidacy of Joseph Armstrong, former director of public works. The democrats have a candidate in the field and the outcome of the primary, the hottest that Pittsburgh has known in years, is filled with uncertainty.

Among the cities which will nominate candidates for commission officers next Tuesday and elect them in

LIVES ARE LOST IN CLOUDBURST AT GOLDFIELD

At Least Seven Are Known to Be Dead and Scores Are Rendered Homeless With Probability of Increased Death List

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] GOLDFIELD, Sept. 13.—At least seven lives are believed to have been lost, scores of residences swept away and thousands of dollars worth of merchandise destroyed in the torrents that carried away a portion of the town of Goldfield today.

Unconfirmed reports from Tonopah, which is now cut off from communication, carry tidings of even greater loss of life and property from a cloudburst that caused severe torrents throughout the entire district this afternoon.

With nearly all wires down and the power plant crippled and out of commission, Goldfield, a community of 5,000 inhabitants, is in darkness tonight and hundreds driven from their flooded homes are being cared for by a hastily organized relief corps.

All telephone and power lines are down, rail communication is cut off by washouts, and most of the country roads near here have been washed away. The skies are still lowering and fears are felt there will be a continuance of the downpour.

The known dead are: Mrs. De Carmo and child; another woman believed to be Mrs. Pelt; two others, unknown, whose bodies were carried away on the first crest of the torrent.

Rainfall began here at 11 o'clock this morning. This became heavier and 2:15 o'clock when a cloudburst loosened its torrents from the Malas-

Recognize Big Tim's Body After Thirteen Days

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—So many friends of Congressman Timothy D. ("Big Tim") Sullivan have identified the body in a morgue as that of the Bowery politician that wonder is expressed that it was permitted to lie in the Fordham morgue for thirteen days since he was struck and killed by a train at Pelham Parkway on August 31 after he had eluded the nurses, who were guarding him because his mind had been clouded for many months.

The body was taken tonight to the rooms of the Sullivan political association where it will lie in state until Tuesday when there will be a public funeral.

Although noted for his many charities in life, Congressman Sullivan made no provision in his will to perpetuate them. His estate is estimated at about $3,000,000. It will be divided among his brothers and sisters and their children. The will, it was learned tonight, was drawn five years ago.

Claims against the estate, it is said, will amount to about $100,000.
